Guidelines for Campus Visitors

SUNY Adirondack is ready to welcome visitors back to our campus locations. To minimize the potential for COVID-19 exposure and spread, public access to the campus is limited. The college is following all federal and state public health and safety guidelines and requires everyone visiting any of our three locations to do so as well.

We ask all campus visitors to adhere to the following health and safety protocols:

CAMPUS ENTRY CHECKPOINTS: When you arrive at any of our three locations, you will be required to stop at a CampusClear checkpoint. These will be located at the Haviland Road entrance on the Queensbury main campus (opens at 6:30 a.m.), and at the front desks at our Saratoga site in Wilton (opens at 7:30 a.m.) and our Culinary Arts Center in Glens Falls. You must have a face covering on when entering the checkpoint.

If you are arriving to the Queensbury main campus via the public transit bus, you will be required to stop at the Welcome Desk in Warren Hall to show your CampusClear pass and receive a wristband before proceeding to your campus destination.

If you are being dropped off at the Queensbury main campus by another individual, the vehicle should proceed to the Haviland Road entrance. You will be required to show your CampusClear pass to receive a wristband. Other persons in the vehicle who are not staying on campus will not be required to complete the CampusClear screening, however, they must remain in their vehicle at all times while on campus.

HEALTH ASSESSMENT/SCREENING: You will be required to show proof of a health self-assessment to the checkpoint attendant. The most efficient way to navigate this checkpoint is to complete the Coronavirus COVID-19 Daily Health Assessment form that was provided to you before arriving to campus. If you have not completed the form prior to arrival, you will be required to answer a series of assessment questions at the checkpoint. Once cleared to be onsite, you will be given a wristband, which will provide you access to campus for that day only.

FACE COVERINGS REQUIRED: Properly worn face coverings are required for everyone indoors, except when alone in private offices or in single use spaces, with the door closed. They are also required outside if social distancing of at least six feet cannot be achieved.

PRACTICE SOCIAL DISTANCING: Everyone inside buildings is required to follow the one-way directional signage, maintain six feet between you and all other persons whenever possible, and follow any social distancing signage present in many locations.

WASH YOUR HANDS: Please remember to wash your hands frequently and thoroughly. Hand sanitizer is also available throughout campus in every building for your use.

Thank you for adhering to these guidelines while visiting our campus. Keeping our community safe is our collective responsibility.
